

I'm Oliver, the yearbook cover designer. I'm graduating this year, and I hope this cover is a pleasant parting gift. Senior year is always a time for introspection. I spent most of my year looking back, or "rewinding," I guess you could say. The school community has been doing much of the same thing, for it is the 150-year anniversary last year. The yearbook staff decided on the title "REWIND" as a tribute to that special event. At every milestone, one is often occupied with looking back but also dreaming forward. If the yearbook title embodies the notion of looking back, then the rest of the design is a token of the journey ahead. In designing the cover, I wanted to create something beautiful, meaningful, and memorable. The idea of an elegant blank canvas is one that I eventually settled on. I think of it as a symbol for a future of infinite possibilities. There are so many stories to write, so please, write on. I give my best and kindest wishes to everyone. I thank each and every one of you for being a part of this community. It has been my absolute pleasure and honor to design for you.

To Our Dearest... Joel Long

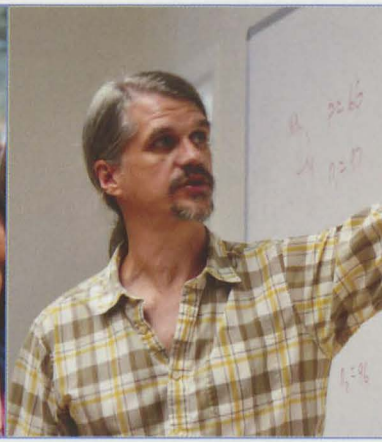

My father's universe is chaotic and messy, but what he creates out of it is pure and beautiful. He can't figure out how to use a subject line, but is probably the only man who will ever spontaneously send me poems he wrote to my email. He posts an indecipherable blurry photo on Instagram one day and posts a spectacular aerial of the Great Salt Lake the next. When he cooks, his kitchen turns into a battlefield, but he will undoubtedly bring the tastiest dish to the party. He turned my old bedroom into an art studio and uses my bed as a display for his watercolors. He's an inspiring teacher, a passionate poet, an impressive musician, a talented cook.

He's silly, incredibly smart, and he's truly, truly kind. He's the personified version of a golden retriever. He is the kind of person that is willing to put his own life at risk just to save his daughter's already dented car. If you know him, you probably know what I'm talking about. My father is my biggest fan, and my sister and I are his, even though it may be hard to tell due to how much we tease him. We are proud to be forever known as Mr. Long's daughters.

Thank you for honoring him this year in all his ridiculousness and brilliance.

Hands On Learning

The sophomore class had Beyond The Classroom this year on September the 12. It was organized by Gary Lindemann and focused on helping others. The day started with sophomores making lunch for the Lincoln Campus, followed by a guest speaker who talked to them about the immigration program that helps immigrants wanting to start a food business, i.e. food truck or restaurant. Then shortly after, the class split into groups and went to the local grocery store and bought pantry food (non perishables). Once they returned, they packed all the food into boxes and sent them to various immigrant families anonymously.

1. Cyrus Johnston having a great time in the middle of making lunch with his fellow peers 2. Chloe Coleman and Sally Logue keep busy cutting vegetables for the soup of the day 3. Lily Roberts, Leo Smart, Ben Fowler, and Ella Vitek having a great time making dough together 4. Ben Kanter is deep in thought kneading the dough for the bread 5. Louise Rech, Giselle Bodeen, and Jordan Crockett trying to figure out how to make the dough 6. Boston Ballard and Jason Nkoy are seen making the tuna salad for lunch

CONVOCATION

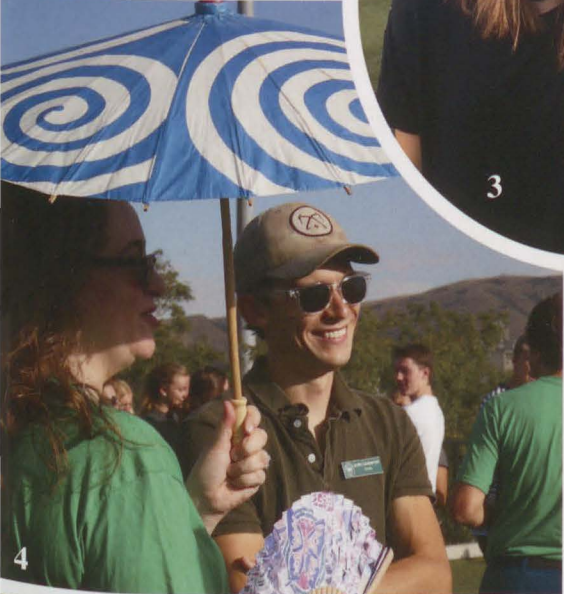

Every year the school joins together, first grade through twelfth, to celebrate the new year. In order to do so, the high school students make the trek up the steep hill along 800 south from the Lincoln Street Campus to the Steiner fields to participate. To help connect the grades, the seniors and lower school students exchanged high fives. All ears listened to speeches by Jeremy Innis, Ryan Hoglund, Alan Sparrow, and Student Body President Jake Dreyfous. The main theme for the day consisted of doing a kind deed for others. Students enjoyed reconnecting with old and new classmates. In addition, the school celebrated the 150 year anniversary with an aerial photo.

1. Cousins Samatha Carlisle and Josh Kesling look over at the camera
2. First graders and teachers smile while high fiving the seniors
3. Laura Summerfield and Kajal Ganesh catch up following a long summer break.
4. Maya Royer and Jack Lang remind everyone about some cool hand signs
5. Patrick McNally practices on his guitar before the performance
6. The choir students sing to the audience.

Est. 2008

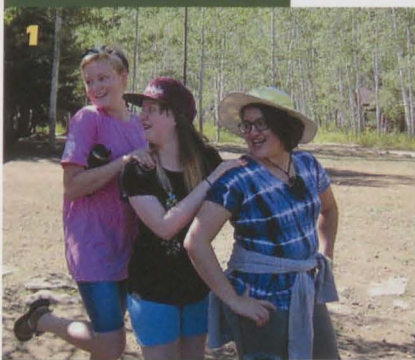

1. Mr. Samson poses for a picture.
 2. Before the ceremony begins Senior Addie Beasley poses with sophomores, Cate Christiansen, Sasha Diamandis, Jordan Crockett, and Olivia Bikhazi for a picture
 3. Seniors Allison Bagley and Kayla Dunzinger smile at the camera while catching up
 4. Dr. Halloran and Mr. Davenport search for shade and cool temperatures while talking
 5. Student Body President, Senior, Jake Dreyfous gives his speech
 6. Laisha Padilla and Izzy Cox walk over to find some seats
 7. The seniors and first graders exchange high fives to welcome the new school year
 8. A group of seniors laugh at how fast time flies

RHSN

CAMP ROGER

Freshman Trip

Every year the freshman class spends three days bonding over rainy days and activities. They head up to cozy Camp Roger, hidden in the Uintah mountains, and leave the modern world to really get to know one another. They participate in activities including orienteering, hiking, water testing, beaver watching, and poetry writing. These activities brought the grade together, and since they were separated into groups of random people, many kids made new friends. One student, Zach Benton, remarked, "I couldn't believe how much fun I ended up having!" They made great memories throughout the trip, and learned many new outdoor skills. Though the weather wasn't perfect, the freshman class returned with a new respect for their classmates.

1. Mena Zendajas-Portugal, Maddy Eatchel, and James Welt pretend to get ready for prom. 2. Calvin Barbanell, Noah Edgar, Jesus Lamas, Cole Lunde, Alex Okawa play a game of cards in their free time. 3. Adalyn Olthuis expresses her excitement for the next few days. 4. Serena Flanders, Beca Damico, Katie Moore, Miona Atanackovic, and Adalyn Olthuis examine the river to test its quality. 5. Tucker Lee, Nick Murphy, and Garrett Glasgow sit on a rock and look out to the world. 6. Ke'ea Rameirez, Ashlee Jackson, Elena

Barker, Katie Plavent, and Sarah Wahlen pose in the freezing lake right before the rain hits.

Showing our SPIRIT

This year's Spirit Week consisted of Tie-Dye day, Halloween, Tourist day, Patriot day, and class color day. Just like every year, this year's Spirit Week at Rowland Hall was an overall success with enthusiastic participation from the student body. We have never seen such colorful hallways as we have this year during class color day, so good job ROHO! Halloween remained one of the most participated and entertaining days of the week. Hats off to the student council for helping to make this a memorable event!

LET'S GO WINGED LIONS!

1. The US faculty asks "Why should students have all the fun?" and chooses the best group outfit, Gru and his minions! 2. Dorothy (Allie Zehner) and Cruella De Vil (Kathy Howa) go off-script to make the yearbook happy with this photo. 3. James Welt Looks grumpy because he was caught off guard, but hey, his cute Snoopy onesie sure earned him some Spirit Week points! 4. A Rockstar (Grant Dacklin) and a chimney sweep (Kemper Farrell) make the perfect duo we don't want, but need. 5. Kenzie Steward and Emily Fowler are known to be nice seniors, but who knew they were nice enough to laugh with Freshman?! (with Isabel Cox, Laisha Padilla, Ella Brown, Serena Flanders, Amelia Livingston)

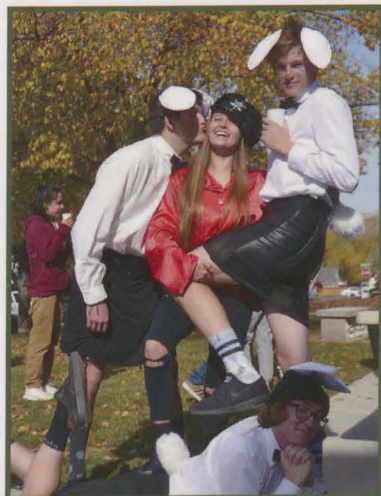

Halloween Costume Winners:

DOMINATE SENIORS

Best Group:

1st Place ▶

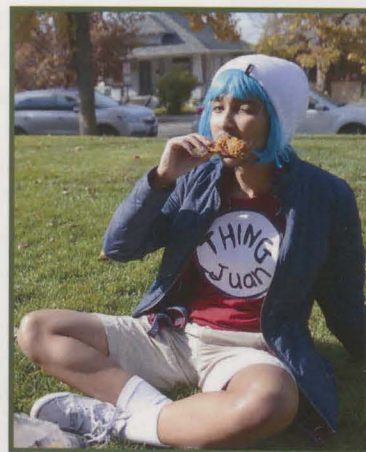

Grace Riter as the Playboy with Declan Picot, Jake West, and Jake Dreyfous as her bunnies? Now THAT'S a sight worth first place!

Most Creative:

1st Place ▶

Ava Mitra possibly loves friend chicken more than we love her "Thing Juan" costume.

◀ 2nd Place

Lucy Neill, Camryn Glick, and Madi Kwan as Nuns: Married to Jesus or pizza?

Sarv Rafaati catches the essence of college applications with her College Board costume.

◀ 2nd Place

1. Michael Palmer posed as a true Rowland Hall student on vacation.

2. Is Donna

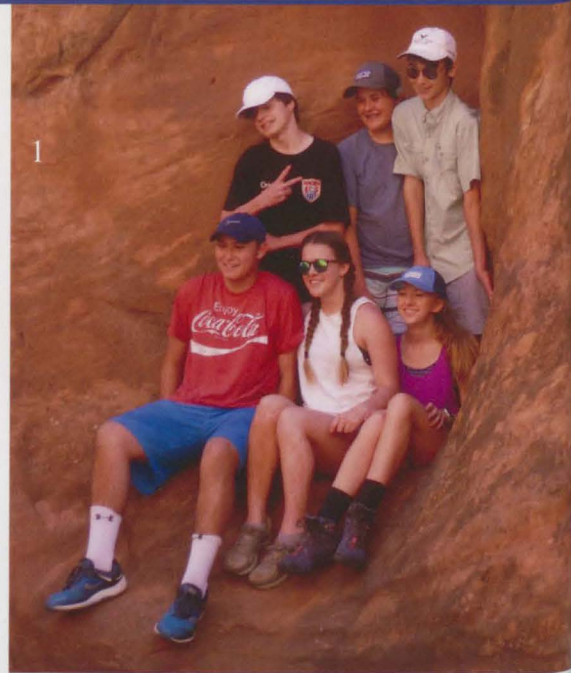

Booher the cutest

witch you've ever seen or is she the cutest witch you've ever seen? 3. Grace McIntyre would look exactly like Boo if she had dyed her hair black, but that smile is ON POINT. 4. If the presidential election were completely in the hands of Roho, Max Jaquin as Vermin Supreme would 10/10 win.

Away We Go Interim

Every year in the spring, students have the opportunity to experience a wide range of adventures. Whether it be climbing a mountain along the Wasatch or a walk along the Great Wall of China, the trips offer a chance for students and teachers to broaden horizons. Some favorite trips from last year included the annual Yampa river trip, college touring, and hiking highway 12. On each trip students and teachers enjoyed beyond the classroom experiences.

Starting Off On the

At Rowland Hall's Fall Festival 2017, Upper School students gathered with their friends on campus for a pleasant evening filled with live music by our own artists, musical chairs, and other fun activities to set off the year on the right foot.

1. Blind Design's Jake West and Patrick McNally never fail to pump up the crowd with their powerful stage presence. 2. With his long legs, Jake Dreyfous will surely win musical chairs against everyone. 3. What do we think Jacqueline Park was wondering in the middle of this game? 4. Cole Topham's unfailing technique to making others uncomfortable: Stare intently at Donnette with your tongue out.

Right Foot

1. Beware, Jacob Bleil might accidentally steal your heart with his cello skills. 2. Savannah's concentrated face is PRICELESS hahaha get it???... no? 3. Cole Topham, Austin Topham, and Jack Smith steal the audience's heart with their music. 4. Noah Blumenthal sneaks in a quick nap before Fall Festival officially kicks off. 5. Celia's face is clearly indicative of the StuCo ticket counter being the MOST FUN spot at the 2017 Fall Festival. 6. If there is anyone who needs more than one bite to eat a Donette, you know it's Soren Feola.

HALF DAY, WHOLE HEART

Over the years, Rowland Hall has acquired many traditions. One of these is called Half Day, Whole Heart. This is a day dedicated to serving our community and getting our minds off tests and assignments. Some of the volunteer work we do includes organizing gardens and thrift stores. This tradition was started in 2003 and has become something we do yearly. It is an opportunity to work outside the classroom and experience hands-on learning.

Girls Volleyball

The 2017 Volleyball season can be labeled a success due to the team's unending hard work and perseverance in the face of challenge. The Varsity team finished second in Region 17, and JV set an incredible 11-to-4 season record! Coach Tomsic remains proud of her incredible team which possesses the "talent, heart, determination, and team spirit" required to be champions. Also, congratulations and thanks to the three senior captains Allie Zehner, Emily Fowler, and Emma Reuling for being incredible leaders to this beautiful and talented group of girls.

MAY THE COURSE BE WITH YOU BOYS GOLF

The golf team had a strong showing this year. Our team placed 2nd in both the region and state tournaments. Head coach Martin Ellis and Assistant Head Coach Stacey Camacho were very proud of how the boys played throughout the season. The team got first place or second place at every match this year. Coach Ellis had a goal for everyone on the team to "take two strokes off of their score," and he was happy to report that the team was able to reach that goal easily.

KISS MY ACE

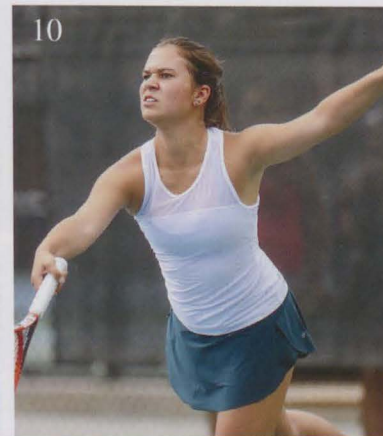

Girls Tennis

The team was young this year with five new players and only one senior. Some matches they travelled to included Morgan and another at Submit Academy to battle it out. Despite having a very new team, the whole team competed well and earned a spot at state. Senior Katie Foley had another successful season winning both a region and state title. Way to go, Katie!

Sorry, I've Gotta Run Cross Country

The Cross Country season flew by quickly this year. With a total of eight meets throughout the season, runners experienced multiple courses. In late September, the varsity team travelled to Boise, Idaho to compete in the annual Bob Firman Invitational. Other races included the Murray Invitational, BYU autumn classic, and many more. Both freshman Carson Burian and Tate Beasley had a successful season. At state Tate placed 3rd and Carson placed 2nd. Both the girls and boys teams won region and took 4th and 3rd place respectively at state.

REFUSE TO LOSE

This year's girls soccer team had a historic, undefeated season. In total, they had 168 goals to give them the 2017 2A State Championship title while allowing their opponents only six goals. This season Rowland Hall had nine seniors in the varsity team. In addition, they also won region and had multiple players who were all-state.

Candle & Carol

Candle and Carol is a community tradition that takes place every Christmas season. Candle and Carol happens on our final day of the first semester, this year being the 14th of December. The service consists of the choir and orchestra performing, along with several speeches and sermons. The candle light gives the church a beautiful look and keeps families coming every year.

Christmas Giveaway

Volunteers of all ages came to Rowland Hall on December 20, 21, and 22 to partner with the Utah Crossroads Urban Center. The volunteers worked together to create food bags and provide turkeys and bags of food to those who can not afford them. Governor Herbert appeared to help volunteers spread the joyous spirit at this popular event. Spots at this event often fill up quickly, so make sure to sign up next year!

The student council this year has done a great job on fixing and helping students have a more enjoyable time here at Rowland Hall. First off they fought really hard to change and improve the dress code so students have more freedom when deciding what to wear. Also they introduced a food committee to improve and change the cafe for the student body. Lastly, student council worked hard to create and plan events such as the winter formal. This year they took a different turn and made half of the venue a "casino" to give the students something to do besides dancing.

This year's winter formal, held at the Gallavan Center, celebrated Hollywood's most notorious secret agent with a Casino Royal theme. Students got to show off their 007 skills by gambling for points that went to their respective battle of the classes points. Despite the disappointing lack of snow this year, the winter formal was one to remember.

DEBATE KICKS AFF

Debate 2017-18

The Rowland Hall High School Debate team had a very successful 2017-18 year. Some highlights of the year include top speaker awards at multiple tournaments, dominating the UVU tournament — Rowland Hall debaters “closed out” finals, the novices had success both locally and nationally, and they received awards in each debate event. One especially important achievement was Sydney Young and Madeline Brague qualifying for the Tournament of Champions. Some topics we debated were education policies, gun control, plea bargains, Catalonia independence, and more. The team is looking towards another successful season next year!

1. Leo Doctorman celebrates his 18th birthday at a Thai restaurant at the Meadows Tournament in Las Vegas 2. Band

This year's band has been involved in a plethora of events. In addition to their own fall and spring concerts, they also performed at many other events. The band also performed at basketball games. Along with those events, the band also played in the dance concert that took place in the spring. With all of the events the band played at, the band also had four new freshmen join this year! This year's band included Jacob Bleil and Patrick McNally on the bass, Nicholas Murphy, Tori Kusakawa, and Seth Thomas on the drums, Noah Edgar and Jonah Thomas on the trombone, Maddy Frech on the trumpet, Alex Kahler on the tenor saxophone, Jesus Lama and Amelia Livingston on the alto saxophone, Ximena Zendejas-Portugal on the baritone saxophone, and Daniel McNally on the piano.

(R)EVOLUTION

Dance

For Rowland Hall's 150th birthday, this year's dance concert explored the last 150 years of dance in America. Dances choreographed by students with a personal connection to these experiences brought a heart-felt feeling to the stage. From the roaring '20s to jazzercise to modern protests, these dances examined some of the dilemmas Americans have faced as seen through the lens of modern social questions; the performances implored the audience to consider their perception of how much modern society has (or hasn't) changed over the last 150 years.

Alive and Kickin'

This was a very good season for swimming! There was a very large number of swimmers, which meant a lot of experience. In addition, this year there were three new coaches: Amelia Wolfgramm, Cole Jackman, and Hope Feliciano, all of whom did an amazing job coaching this group of great Rowland Hall swimmers. According to the coaches "seeing the progress of each individual was amazing to watch and be a part of!" The girls' team did a great job placing 1st at the Region 13 meet. The boys' team also did very well placing 4th. Overall, it was a remarkable season and we hope to see these stellar coaches again next year.

Nothin' But Net

The Rowland Hall Girls' Basketball Program is realizing one of the strongest seasons in school history with a 16-5 overall record and a second place finish in Region XVII. The team has shown incredible growth this year with several dominate performances at several different basketball tournaments. The dedication and hard work that this team has put in over several years has paid off as this team works to make it past the first round of the State playoffs this season. The team showcases and represents a sincere love for the game, but also a real love and respect for each other which has fostered bonds

Publications

We are the voice of the students! We represent you! We have donuts! We constructed this yearbook! Everyday we come into class and alternate working on the yearbook and the newspaper. The class was lead by teachers Anne Wolfer and Laura Johnson. Anne is in charge of the yearbook side of the class, and Dr. Johnson is in charge of the newspaper side of things. Although our numbers may be small, we worked very hard to get all of the newspapers and the entire yearbook done. Through all the hard work, we made sure the keep the class fun, and we ate donuts. As said by Tristram "I love donuts" We're sad to see our senior Ava Mitra leave, and while no one can take her place, we have three new freshman to help fill her place.

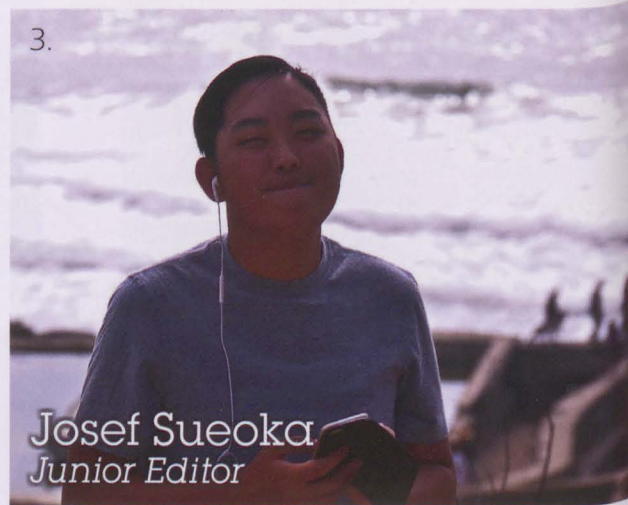

Our job is to make you look good

Kenzie Steward

Alvaro Nicolia

Josef Sueoka
Junior Editor

Profiles:

1. McKenzie Steward, a member of the class of 2018, joined the publications team this year for her final year of high school. With four years of experience from the viewers' perspective at Rowland Hall, Kenzie helped create pages that capture the viewers' attention and focus on memorable events. She also worked hard to produce newspaper articles that highlight some aspects of our school. She is thankful to have had the opportunity to contribute to the school newspaper and to have helped produce a yearbook that reflects the 2017-2018 school year. 2. Alvaro Nicolia came to Rowland Hall during 8th grade. Since then, he has strived to gain more knowledge and has used his intellectual curiosity to drive his passions. Alvaro is a dedicated student who strives to do his best in his academics. He loves philosophy and religion and allows for these concepts to flow in his writing. Outside of Rowland Hall, Alvaro likes to pass his time reading, playing classical music on the piano, and soccer. He also likes to listen to folkloric music from Argentina and loves to dance. He has been able to apply all of his skills into publications which allow for a diverse and insightful opinion to radiate. 3. Josef Sueoka is a junior has been on the publications team for each year of high school. He enjoys playing video games, cooking, and spending time with his family. 4. Katy Dark is a dedicated student. She loves to read, draw, paint and cook. Most often she works at Great Harvest, takes naps, and hangs out with friends. 5. Sophie Dau is a freshman. She enjoys reading, writing, listening to music, doing debate, traveling, and cats. She enjoyed getting to use her creativity to design her pages and her love of writing to write her newspaper stories. She is looking forward to continuing to work on the Publications

86 next year.

Sophie Dau

Ava Mitra
Senior Editor

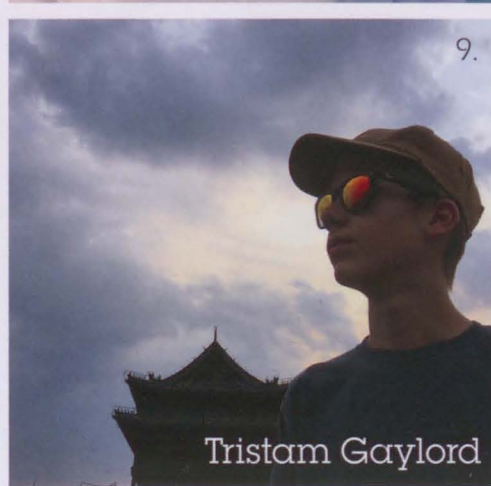

Megan Monahan

6. Born and raised in Bangladesh, Ava joined the Rowland Hall family as an international student in 2016 as a Junior. In the last four years of high school, she has worked for the yearbook staff at three different schools, which helped her develop a keen sense of design. Serving as the senior editor for this year's book, Ava was thrilled to work with an adept staff that brought fresh ideas on the table and followed through while maintaining a great sense of teamwork. Ava was also able to present a renewed look for the school newspaper, which she hopes will attract more eyes to showcase the skills of the staff. In her downtime, Ava enjoys playing with dogs, playing the guitar, and cooking. 7. Beca is a freshman and was a productive student at her first year here at Rowland Hall. She enjoys reading, writing, and studying! But she also likes to have fun like watching Netflix and figure skating. She loved being on Publications this year and hopes to be on the staff next year. 8. Megan Monahan likes reading, cats, and caffeine. Despite her 4 chronic illnesses she still attends school, and tries to be a productive student. 9. Tristam is a sophomore here at Rowland Hall. This is my first year of Publications and it is great! This class has taught him a lot of great skills that he can use outside of this class.

1. Adella Croft helps Isaac Ball figure out his class work in Calculus. 2. Tori Kusakawa figured out how to read while laying down without any shoulder pains. 3. Alison Puri attentively works on her class work in pre-calculus. 4. Oscar Percy, Jason Nkoy, Mats Lindgren, and Giorgio Gianoulis have lunch outside at the beginning of the year while they can still enjoy with the nice summer weather. 5. Student, Lexi Shaw dances around celebrating eating ice cream with her friend Elli Dark, in Dr. Halloran's U.S. history class.

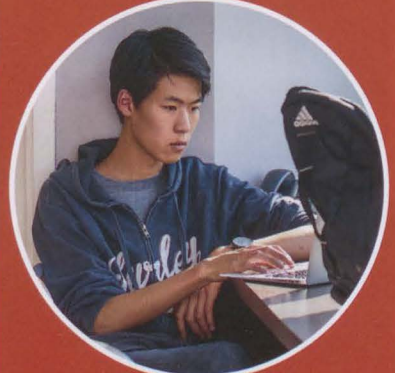

Student Life

Rowland Hall students are a great example of students who are both academically bright and socially engaging. Whether in class, playing sports, or engaging in extra curriculars, students are always interactive and having fun. Students perform well in a wide variety of activities both inside and outside of school. The typical Rowland Hall student enjoys sports, music, or just hanging out with friends!

6. Ally Hansen relaxes in her ceramics class with her headphones plugged in. 7. Andy Merrill, Alex Armknecht, and Lily Roberts, hang out on the art hall way couch. 8. Austin Topham and Sophia Hodson walk back from a good lunch on 9th and 9th. 9. A giant group of freshman eat lunch outside at the beginning of the year while its still nice and sunny. 10. Alex Kahler practicing his solo while rehearsing with the school band. 11. Debaters Isaac Ball, Ben McGraw, and Zaria Thompson listen to their fellow debater, Leo Smart, recite his debate speech for practice.

LITERARY MAG

1. The editors and creators of the Literary Magazine: Sasha Diamandis, Ylan Lockwood, Tate Beasley, Claire Hyde, Emily Fowler, Cole Topham, Hailey Hauck, Isaac Ball, Simon Logue, Ben Fowler, Matthew Goh, Gosha Polishchuk, Josh Kesling, Leo Doctorman, Andrew Merrill, George Adondakis, and Grace Riter. 2. Three of the students walk around the Great Salt Lake. 3. The lit mag students show us a sillier side. 4. A group photo including the lit mag teacher, Joel Long. 5. Another view into the silly side of the Lit Mag team. 6. A group of Lit Mag students at one of their excursions to the Great Salt Lake.

The creative writing class studies authors and works of poetry, fiction, and creative non-fiction. Each week, students write and revise their own creative pieces, inspired by the techniques and themes of prestigious writers while exploring individual voice. The Creative Writing class doubles as the Literary Magazine staff. Tesserae, Rowland Hall's nationally acclaimed work of literature and art, features work from the literary magazine staff as well as pieces from the student body. The Tesserae staff also welcomes visiting writers in order to learn in person from professionals and take excursions out to the Great Salt Lake alongside their inspiring mentor Joel Long.

In 2006, a woman named Tarana Burke, a American civil rights activist, used the term "me too" to raise awareness about sexual harassment. This past year, Hollywood has adopted the term to come together over sexual assault or harassment issues within their workplace, and now the term has become a worldwide term of solidarity for people who have been affected by this. At many award shows, supporters have been wearing black to show their encouragement. At the Oscars, women used their platform to support each other and remind everyone of the issues.

On Valentines Day in 2018, there was a mass shooting at a school in Parkland, FL, called Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School. Seventeen people were killed. As usual, the typical 'thoughts and prayers' came from legislators, but the students were not going to mourn quietly. They have worked with Florida lawmakers to pass gun regulations (but they have yet to see any results), and they have spurred a nation-wide protest, starting movements like #Enough, and #NeverAgain. Nationally, students are planning walk-outs and marches, specifically on March 14 and 24. Rowland Hall had many students walk out and stand in silence for the seventeen students killed.

Current Events

On August 27, 2017, a solar eclipse passed across the entire USA. Places like Idaho Falls (ID), Lincoln (NE), Nashville (TN), and Columbia (SC) were in the path of totality, where the moon was completely in front of the sun. All around the country, people came together to celebrate this natural phenomenon.

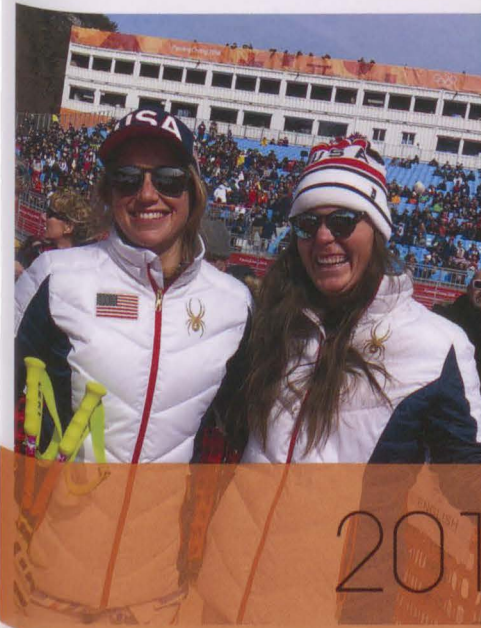

◀ A group of Rowland Hall faculty members went up to Sun Valley, Idaho to see the eclipse in full. Photo taken by Mr. Joel Long.

The 2018 Winter Olympics were held in Pyeongchang, South Korea. The USA got 23 medals in different events. Norway got the most at 29 medals. Russia was banned as a country, which forced their athletes to compete under the name "Olympic Athletes from Russia." Also, North and South Korean Athletes marched under one flag, signifying a step in the right direction for the relations between these two countries.

Rowmark Alumnae Alice McKennis '08, and Breezy Johnson '13, competed in the 2018 Olympics in Pyeongchang. The speed specialists raced in both the Super G and Downhill, finishing 5th and 7th respectively in the Downhill event!

2017-18

Unfortunately, 2017 was a year of natural disasters. We had intense hurricanes throughout hurricane season. Puerto Rico was devastated by Hurricane Maria in August 2017, and as of March 2018, most people don't have power. Texas was also devastated by Hurricane Harvey, and many people stepped up to help Texans get back on their feet. To support the people affected by these events, Rowland Hall had a blood drive, offered to anyone 16 and up to donate blood to the Red Cross.

Welcome, Ms. Damico! She is a great addition to our staff! She brings with her a lot of enthusiasm and hard-work to make our school an even better place! Ms. Damico loves to read, spending time with her family, and she has a daughter named Beca Damico that goes to Rowland Hall! Niure moved here from Brazil with her family 6 years ago. She loves Utah because of the mountains and the distinct seasons.

Welcome to the Family!

Welcome, Mr. Milling! Here are a few facts about Mr. Milling...

He believes science is wonderful because it helps you discover the truth of how the world around you works and operates. He wants to understand more about Neuroscience. He has lived and taught in Morocco, Ghana and San Diego. He has 3000 LPs, mostly Jazz and Blues. And... he was once bitten by a shark.

Welcome Mr. Sincell who has been teaching stage crew and theatre since Dec. He is a professional actor and teacher from Maryland, but before moving to Utah he lived in NYC for 10 years. Mr. Sincell has had a lot of experience with teaching, from teaching theater, to wilderness therapy! He is very excited to be a part of the Rowland Hall family.

Hello and Goodbye

Goodbye, Mr. Lindemann. He served our school for 14 years, and never failed to improve the school's theatre productions. His achievements in the Larimer Center and Rowland Hall's Theater Program will have a lasting effect on our school.

We will miss you and everything that you brought to the school!

Thank you to Oliver Jin for putting in so much effort into designing a stunning cover with an amazing meaning behind it!

Linda Hampton, thank you for proofing our spreads all year, every year!

Julie Shipman, thank you for taking all our amazing sport photos!

Grace Riter, thank you for stepping up to the challenge and writing all the senior superlatives!

Thank you to Stuart Ruckman for taking incredible photos of student life and Rowland Hall events!

Thank You

Thank you to Stephanie Orfanakis (Left) and Kelly Hermans (Right) for helping us with marketing and for showing us how to use Vidigami. Also, thank you for giving us access to all the amazing 150 year anniversary photos through which we were able to make the yearbook more special.

Dear Madi

We couldn't be prouder
of the young lady you are growing into. Never stop running towards the things that feel challenging, scary and exciting... We love you,
to the moon and back!

Lots of love Mum, Dad,

Drop A Deuce Boys' Tennis

Overall, the tennis team had a successful year. With each position doing well in region play, the team was set up for a good opportunity to compete for State Championship. Senior Leif Thulin, is looking for a three-peat at the first singles slot. The tennis team is sad to say goodbye to seniors Leif Thulin, Chris Ausbeck, Soren Feola, and Leo Doctorman. They will be dearly missed!

Senior Leif Thulin laughs as senior Soren Feola tells a joke. 5. Sophomore Tim Zeng prepares to serve. 6. Senior Leif Thulin hits a "tweener" 7. The team poses for funny photo. 8. Seniors Leo Doctorman and Chris Ausbeck prepare for a volley at the net. 9. Steven Doctorman collects the tenniss balls 10. Sophomore Peter Chase lunges for a difficult low forehand. 11. Coaches Tim Sleeper and Susan Danes discuss who to put in the doubles slot. 12. Senior Soren Feola hits a kick serve with his full attention.

Most of the softball team was new to the game this year; the learning curve was huge. Despite the small team of only nine girls, they worked together well, and had a fun and supportive dynamic. This group improved a lot. They were even able to mercy rule the other team in a double header. One of the team captains, Pippa Hodgkins, "would like to remind everyone, four on three." Congrats to the softball team, they had a great year!

This year the baseball team faced stiff competition, but they powered through and they had a solid start to the season. Senior Jack Dischmann threw some heat throughout the first 5 games leading the team to a 4-1 start. We will be saying goodbye to five seniors this year, Luke Nicoloff, Jack Dischmann, Alex Benton, Michael Palmer, and Will Stone. Thanks to coach Zach Paige for all of his hard work.

Get Over It

This year's track team started their preseason training in January, but had their first track meet in the third week of March. Throwers, sprinters, jumpers, hurdlers, and runners all practiced with their respective coaches to set new personal records, with some by nine seconds. We say good bye and good luck to our seniors Allison Bagley, Aiko Miller, and Sidney Hare. In addition, Rowland Hall took first in the Region!

This year's soccer team has had an amazing year. The team led the region in wins as well as passed the win total from last year. As Head Coach Scott Langone said, "this years team has been one of the most exciting teams I've had in my 11 years here." The chemistry for this year's team has been outstanding. The senior captains Jake Dreyfous and Simon Logue helped create a huge culture change, along with the help from seniors Youssef Salama and Nico Edgar. As Langone also said, "the Seniors are part of that culture change; part of making it a hard-working and exciting team. A team that cares for each other and not just for themselves."

GIRLS' GOLF

The girls' golf team has had a substantially impressive commencement to their 2017/2018 season with triumphant victories in every game. The team's ambition and dedication have allowed them to be undefeated in the region, and state champions. We thank Head Coach Martin Ellis for his outstanding performance in leading the team and Assistant Coach Ryan Holt for his moral and technical support. We would like to say goodbye to our two seniors: Madelyn Kwun and Zaria Thompson. We thank them for their four years of passionate devotion, and the wonderful memories which they have brought to the team. We wish them luck as they progress into greatness and new experiences. As for all the remaining players, we also thank them for their commitment throughout this season.

IN A GROVE

The Winter performance for this year was called "In A Grove." It revolved around three ghost stories about a small town in Japan. This was the first play our new theater teacher Matt Sincell directed. The set included "a floating skull", "a floating lantern with a movable mouth", and huge life-sized trees! It was definitely a complex set that took about 10 weeks to build. The crew collaborated with the art department to build parts of the set, and Mr. Sincell hopes to "collaborate with the many different talents here at Rowland Hall" in the future performances. According to Mr. Sincell, "[he] would like to take on some more challenging, socially relevant plays to show how theatre can be more than just a form of escape and entertainment." We can't wait to see what he adds to the school in the coming years!

Battle of The Classes

Every year as spring begins, the upper school students team up to battle the other grades. Each grade picks students to participate in the activities to help their grade win. The activities for the 2018 Battle of the Classes ranged from a shoe relay race to a game of basketball. Of course, the annual lip sync and class music videos were also a big hit. Mr. Wortham, the french teacher, served as one of the judges for the lip sync. He points out how "The lip syncs get better every year. Every class improved; it was fun to watch!" The seniors incorporated the chicken dance they did as freshman into the large mash-up. Overall, it was another great year of Battle of the Classes.

PROM

This year's prom was held at the memorial house at Memory Grove. On the night of the dance, spring was just starting to burst to life and all brightest greens and flower buds were exploding. Students had a lovely buffet dinner, senior superlatives and slideshow shared loving – if not slightly embarrassing – pictures of seniors' friendships from toddlerhood through the awkward years of middle school.
